Hi Professor Shi,

Would it be possible to make an exception on the two person limit for group projects? I am one of three computer graphics grad students taking your course (others cc'ed) and we all work in the same space and frequently collaborate on projects. We work well together and we already have an idea we'd like to try for the final project. We'd like to get started together on Project 3, but if this is not possible, we understand.

Thank you for your consideration,
Zach Corse

Yes, that would be fine. I am happy to see you are working well together. -Jianbo
